

EXECUTIVE FORCE PROTECTION LEVEL 1

EXECUTIVE FORCE PROTECTION Level 1 (1-day)

COURSE OBJECTIVE: Designed for executives and other corporate personnel considering travel to medium risk areas without Personal Security Details (PSD). The traveler will be fully briefed on the area they intend to visit and receive familiarization training to recognize and respond to the most common threats and hazards they might encounter during travel. This course can be delivered at our training center in El Paso Texas, or may be conducted at your location.

The briefing will be researched and prepared by personnel who are US Military Force Protection Unit Advisor Level 2 trainers, supported by trained military intelligence analysts and personnel with recent first-hand experience in the target (or similar) country. The person delivering the briefing will be a trained and experienced Special Operations operator with combat experience in high risk areas, who is Survival, Evasion and Resistance to interrogation and Escape (SERE) qualified.

Our trainers routinely travel to high risk areas throughout the world and can provide you first-hand accounts of encounters with criminals, terrorists, foreign intelligence agents, catastrophic weather events, dangerous animals and how they were able to survive the encounters.

SUBJECT AREAS COVERED: This course is broken into five one hour blocks of instruction.

Session 1 - Travel planning. This includes a briefing on the language, demographics, culture, customs and history of the locations visited to include gestures, looks, colors, words and phrases which might offend people in the area you will visit, as well as the correct things to do to ensure you receive a friendly reception. One of the most important things you can do to prepare for your visit is to learn something about the people you will visit. This is not simply a "National Geographic" brief you can pull from the web. This is derived from first-hand experience by personnel who know the region and have interacted with the locals.

Session 2 - Criminal and Terrorist threats in the area. This is a focused briefing on the backgrounds, history, tactics, techniques and capabilities of the threat you may encounter during your visit. This may include video and news reports of actual attacks and detailed briefings on how the attack occurred and what could have been done to survive or avoid the attack.

Session 3 - Environmental Hazards. This block will cover dangerous insects, animals, reptiles, plants, diseases, weather and other natural hazards.

Session 4 - Signature Reduction and Surveillance Detection. This class will provide you with instruction in how static, foot and vehicular surveillance is conducted, how to recognize this type of surveillance and what to do when you spot it.

Session 5 - Emergency Procedures, Survival Mind-Set. This one hour block of instruction covers what to do in worst-case situations. The instruction will cover what you can do to avoid capture if an attack occurs, how to survive the first few moments of capture if you are not successful in evading, and how to come back alive from a hostage situation.
